Why (mis)use of P728-M fertilizer fund is a scam

THE P728-MILLION FERTILIZER FUND allegedly diverted to benefit President Macapagal-Arroyo's 2004 election campaign was said to be a scam in a "grand agricultural fraud" due to several reasons pointed out in 2005 by Sen. Juan Miguel Zubiri, then chair of the Senate agriculture committee, and by the Commission on Audit (COA).

Bolante 'unbelievable'

Lawmakers admit: We got something, not fertilizer

By Lolita B. Salaserna and Inquirer Bureau

THE LAWMAKERS WHO FORMER Agriculture Undersecretary Jocelyn "Joc-joc" Bolante said had sought funds from his department yesterday confirmed they got something, but not what they wanted from the fertilizer fund.

At the same time, officials who were asked by the Department of Budget and Management (DBM) as to how they received some of P728 million from the P728-million fertilizer fund denied getting the money. Others acknowledged that they received the money.

Bolante, during his much-contested Senate testimony, identified Philippine Rep. Eduardo Teodoro, former Negros Occidental and Cebu City Rep. Norberto Daza as the UNBELIEVABLE. Even administration ally Sen. Hilarion can't believe his ears, saying Bolante was "defending the indefensible," and that his testimony about gov't's heart attack.

WHERE DID THE MONEY GO? In the Senate hearing, an Agriculture Undersecretary Jocelyn Bolante (right) testified, alleged and indicated the release of the P728-million fertilizer fund. Bolante said he was particularly fired up because it was diverted to his Arroyo's presidential campaign.

Joc-joc testifies GMA not involved

By Michael Lin Ulías and Christine O. Avendaño

"UNBELIEVABLE," THAT is one word summed up the testimony of the much-avoided Jocelyn "Joc-joc" Bolante yesterday who appeared at the Senate with a battery of lawyers.

The main suspect of skimming the diversion of the P728-million fertilizer fund to President Macapagal-Arroyo's election campaign in 2004 finally faced the Senate blue ribbon panel of senators yesterday. But less than 10 minutes into the hearing, long witness stood statements and denied that the action "occurred recently."

Following Sen. Alan Peter Geronimo's opening statement, Bolante asked for more time to question. Bolante's lawyer, Atty. General Jose Almonte, said he was going to present more funds to his part in denying skimming. Bolante said President Arroyo approved the use of the fund for her election campaign.

Bolante was hardly shocked. He quickly replied: "President Arroyo was not involved in this particular matter of the Department of Agriculture. The implementation of the P728-million farm input fund is the responsibility of the Department of Agriculture."

30 most developed nations in recession

IMB—THE WORLD'S LEADING industrialized nations have all seen recession or will do so in 2009, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) announced yesterday.

The Paris-based grouping of the world's 30 most developed countries said the US economy shrank 3.3 percent in the third quarter this year and would contract a whopping 2.8 percent in the fourth. Two consecutive quarters of negative growth would put the world's largest economy in recession. Japan—the world's second largest economy—will see negative growth in the third quarter of 2008 before returning to positive territory in the first quarter of 2009, while the eurozone economy will not begin to grow again until the third quarter of 2009, according to the OECD. "The OECD area now appears to have entered into a recession," the leading international economic organization said in a one-page statement ahead of the

GMA won't resume talks until rogue MILF rebs under control

By TJ Borgeis

NEW YORK—PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-Arroyo on Wednesday ruled out the resumption of peace talks with the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) until "responsible elements" had regained control of the rebel organization.

Speaking at the United Nations General Assembly on Wednesday, President Arroyo said world leaders that the Philippines remained "fully committed" to the peace process.

"However, before we can actively and effectively resume the peace process, we must first bring the rebel back to the island, restore order and be able to trust that responsible elements of the MILF have regained control," she said.

On her return to Manila early today following her four-day trip to the United Nations, the president said she was "pleased" to see the MILF's commitment to peace.

Elmabelle Borgeis, secretary general of the 36-member Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC), urged the new idea to "start the peace process from a clean slate" and to "avoid further deterioration and ensure

President asks Saudi prince to stay execution of 3 Filipinos in Jeddah

NEW YORK—PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-Arroyo said on Wednesday that Saudi Crown Prince Abdullah bin Abdul Aziz al-Saud is to lead the execution of three Filipinos convicted of killing other Filipinos in Jeddah.

The President met with Sultan bin Abdulaziz Al Saud, the United Nations General Assembly on Wednesday in New York and relayed her wish of clemency for the three Filipinos and his brother Edson and Edson's brother.

"She was for it. She was there to see to it that the Philippines convicted will hopefully get some kind of reprieve or some lighter penalties," President Arroyo said.

The crown prince vowed to look into this, he added.

BUSINESS OUTSOURCING MAY NOT be the most glamorous industry in the world but it is one of the few bright spots in the dark and gloomy of the global financial crisis.

The two countries which have benefited the most from it are the Philippines and India. In the Philippines, the business process outsourcing (BPO) industry expects growth this year of between 10 and 15 percent in revenues of around $7 billion.

JDV to form new 'rainbow' coalition for 2010

By Leta B. Salaverria and Affric W. Lopez

FORWARD THINKERS JOSE DE WOODA JR. wants to show Mindanawans off a force to reckon with, planning to build a new rainbow coalition that would field a presidential candidate in 2010 in one against the incumbent's bid.

He said many politicians were ready to switch sides and join him because anyone identified with President Macapagal-Arroyo would see their political ambitions dashed.

"Anyone associated with Arroyo has opportunities to develop in politics. Only if you're in my camp," De WOODA told reporters in an interview at the House of Representatives Wednesday morning.

He said he had begun talking to leaders of other political parties to get them to join the "rainbow" coalition that would offer Filipinos a candidate who would bring change.

"We'll create a new, enlarged powerful majority that the new president of the Philippines. That is what we're working on," he said.

De WOODA had formed rainbow coalitions, composed of disparate parties and politicians, in past campaigns he had headed.

He said many politicians had told him they were ready to join his side again.

Crossing the river

"Some of them said to me this early next year...many have already begun...they are preparing themselves," he said.

De WOODA is previous co-chair of Senator Christian Madaula's campaign, the current no-party coalition whose de facto leader is President Arroyo. He was however the side after being ousted from the speakership in January. Administration allies in the House resigned his earlier office for one and a half months, Jose "Jay" de WOODA III, alleged association to the government's National Internal Revenue Service deal with a Chinese corporation and implicated the President's husband, Jose Miguel Arroyo.

He has since signed on to the impeachment complaint for one and a half months against President Arroyo.

Asked if Vice President Noli de Castro was someone he would consider to be in the coalition because since the latter did not have a party, he said, "That one of his subjects in political organizations."

Meanwhile, someone who has declared his presidential candidacy for 2010 said the administration's bid would be to win the election but would not be able to win the election. He said, "The one of his subjects in political organizations."

Donny's bid
Mindanaw's Jose W. Donny said something that the US polls, the Philippine elections will be about the record of the incumbent.

"His Arroyo's record...will have to be evaluated by the people," Donny said, adding that he would not be able to win the election. He said, "The one of his subjects in political organizations."

Ben, president of the United Opposition, announced his intention to run for president on Tuesday.

He said the administration party had not attacked the coalition when it compared to former President Joseph Estrada to George W. Bush, the incumbent US president.

McGill, another have said, not because of the unpopular policies of Bush, another politician.

"It's not the incumbent, it's Arroyo is that the Bush, the public is very dissatisfied with his performance. If you go by the US election, the Arroyo's record will show the chances of his second election," Donny said.

Give justice a human face, Gonzalez tells NBI

JUSTICE SECRETARY RAUL GONZALEZ urged the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) to give justice a human face by ensuring equality in the delivery of justice for both the privileged and the poor, although he admitted that inequality is a fact of life in this country.

"We do justice system, we must see to it that we are equal in the situation for our principal rich and people who have less because of poverty," Gonzalez said in a speech at the commemoration of the 72nd anniversary of the NBI.

"We cannot succeed in bringing justice to people unless there is an equality approach in justice," he added.

The justice secretary said that in the 72nd anniversary of "justice, integrity and integrity," he would add the US military academy, West Point's motto of "Duty, honor, country."

DILG won't force suspended Bataan governor to leave his office

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—THE COMMISSIONERS of the Interior and Local Government (CILG) will not order the police to forcibly remove suspended Mayor Eric Rastine Garcia Jr., should he fail to leave a self-imposed dead line to create his office in the province.

He said the top officials have been officially suspended.

Govoka has been studying the governor's office at the Hahnemann Research Debraj Das and his partner Indrani Das (1 of 4 pages), looking at temporary residence with the Indian woman's son.

The suspension stemmed from a case placed for graft and plunder involving alleged illegal diversion of FLECO funds.

"The Department of Labor is surely looking the other way, Labor Secretary Hargis has said. But he does not want to say," he said.

"While government and business disagree about the difference between a slowdown and a recession, the initial effects of the period economists are already being felt by workers in the export-processing zone," he added.

PM labor officials in Mexico expect increasing taxes and costly industrial crises and thousands of workers, mostly women who work in garment firms, have been affected by the measures.

Days numbered for unlicensed passenger boats

By Gerd/Herod/Elroy
Reporter/Editor

DAVO CITY—THE MARINE INDUSTRY Authority (MIA) is pushing to shut down the continued operation of unlicensed passenger boats.

and Marine would stop the operation of these vessels following the death of 14 people in the sinking of a ferry that was not registered to carry passengers.

Residents directed Marine officials to conduct a survey and an agreement with the local Philippine Coast Guard, Philippine National Police Maritime Group and local government units to stop unregistered vessels from carrying passengers.

Despite brief delays, water shipping operators registered in Davao, declared a ban on their vessels from carrying passengers. The ban was implemented after the death of 14 people in the sinking of a ferry that was not registered to carry passengers.

officials of Tugboan, Quana, which killed 14 people after the ferry capsized in the mangrove waters of Compostela, some 121 km north of Davao City.

Authorities issued MIA orders to the Coast Guard as the agency responsible for ensuring safety of sea.

account of the Group of 20 (G-20) industrialized and emerging nations to Washington in Friday.

The G20's last economic meeting in its 10th anniversary since the end of the 1929-33 global economic crisis, saw the United States recovering by 0.7 percent, Japan by 0.1 percent and the eurozone by 0.5 percent.

The latest economic projections represent a radical divergence since the last time in June, when the organization forecast a 1.7 percent growth in the G20's area in 2009 and indicated that the worst of the financial crisis may have passed.

Germany

The OECD forecasts reinforced fears the world is plunging into a painful downturn and overshadowed the latest batch of upbeat economic data.

Germany announced on Thursday that its economy—the largest in Europe—had slipped into recession for the first time in four years. Economic output contracted by 0.3 percent in the July-September period, following a 0.6 percent decline in the second quarter.

Negative growth in the third quarter was accounted for by a sharp decline in exports, which have powered the performance of the German economy over the past several years.

"We are going to have to live up to a very difficult and long-lasting economic crisis," German Economy Minister Wolfgang Schäuble told Reuters.

Analysts agreed with that grim forecast.

"The latest results of the financial crisis and the global economic slowdown are showing signs of the first of the European economic crisis," said Gordon Brundage of BNP Paribas Bankers.

"There is more worrying. The full impact of the financial crisis will be in 2009," Brundage said. "If you look today's numbers are already bad, but that for the next quarter."

China

China, the world's fastest growing economy, saw the effects of a global downturn. Its annual industrial output growth dropped to 6.2 percent in October, its weakest showing since October 2007.

Premier Wen Jiabao acknowledged that the impact of the recent global crisis is felt even in China, but "much worse than many had expected."

Following a 1993-94 stock market crash on Wednesday, stock markets rallied in Asia. Tokyo shares climbed 5.1 percent after a leading member of Japan's central bank said Asia's largest economy faced a long slump.

Stocks in Sydney ended down 5.8 percent at a four-year low, while shares in Hong Kong fell 5.18 percent. The Chinese stock market, however, ended up 3.7 percent as hopes that Beijing's $586-billion stimulus package would include spending on housing and railway construction.

Europe, Kuwait

Europe's leading stock markets were all down on the opening of Thursday trade. A day after the Bank of England said Britain was probably already in recession, London's FTSE 100 index dropped 3 percent, adding to the gloom with the news by British telecom company BT Group to cut 10,000 jobs at home and overseas.

The Irish benchmark fell 1.17 percent, but the Frankfurt index did only 0.46 percent despite the announcement that Germany had recorded its second consecutive quarter of negative growth.

European stock markets were also down less than 60 minutes after opening as the dollar plunged 11 percent. The sharp drop reflects investors' dropping fears over how hard Britain's economy is being hit by the global crisis and rapid fall in oil prices.

In Kuwait, a coast entered the closure of the country's stock exchange until Nov. 27. The coast online account from a website filled by investors who were concerned about the news fall in the Kuwaiti stock exchange—the Gulf Arab region's largest bourse.

America, Australia

Most global news from continued related uncertainty weighed on US markets overnight with the Dow Jones industrial average falling 4.7 percent—in third consecutive day of losses. US stock index futures were heavily sold, indicating volatility trading on Thursday.

US oil prices fell to a 22-month low below $55 a barrel after the US Department of Energy said on Wednesday it expected America's consumption of petroleum next year to drop more severely than any time since 1980.

In a bid to bolster stocks, Australia imposed a premature loss in so-called market downturn—the practice whereby hedge funds sell shares they neither own nor have borrowed at a high price in the hope of quickly buying them at a lower price in a falling market.

The fall in the price of stocks and commodities was triggered by an announcement that Washington's $700-billion bailout plan would no longer include buying up more mortgage assets from troubled banks.

US Treasury Secretary Henry Paulson said the $700 billion would be better spent on cash injections for struggling banks and helping shore up consumer credit markets. The Wall Street Journal acknowledged the crisis had deepened since the controversial rescue plan was approved by the US Congress in early October.

'Situation worsened'

"The facts changed and the situation worsened," he said.

The falling crisis is linked to so-called subprime US loans—mortgages to low-income and other forms of credit extended to consumers with shaky credit histories. The loans were repackaged and sold to banks and investment around the world.

As the economy slowed and house prices declined, defaults on these loans mounted, sending shock waves through the global financial system.

Governments around the world have pledged around $4.6 trillion to bank bailouts, credit guarantees and fund spending to cut the damage from the financial crisis.

Leaders of the G-20 economies are meeting in Washington on Friday to decide on the next steps in tackling the crisis.

Despite the gloomy outlook for its economy, Japan is prepared to offer foreign reserves worth up to $100 billion to the IMF if the Washington-based financial institution needs extra funds to help struggling economies. Prime Minister Shinzo Abe said the proposal at the G-20 summit, according to a Reuters report.

"Brazilian are now looking to the G-20 summit that weekend, with hopes of some further policy action," Peter K. Brown, Asia FX and credit strategist at Scotiabank Canada, said in a note. Reports from Reuters, AP and AFP.

CHINESE WAREHOUSE owner in Beijing, China, says the impact of the global crisis may "worsen" than expected.

Congo rebels create roadblock out of bodies

KILIMANYO, CONGO—THE ROAD THAT LEADS INTO rebel-controlled Congo begins with a makeshift roadblock made from the corpses of two government soldiers strewn across the dark volcanic earth.

The gate on Wednesday blocked the main route from the town of Kisumu to the regional capital, Goma—one with a buffer in its forehead and a frown for groping the air above.

The scene was surreal as a morning in government troops just a few hundred yards down the road where the rebels had headed the night before. And for the few hundred civilians waiting past the barrier, it was clear enough that Congo's struggle was not ending until there it could draw in Angola and others in the region.

"We don't want any more of it," said 16-year-old John Mwangi, who pushed a wooden bench past the roadblock to a checkpoint as rebels stood in a clench of arms on both sides staring silently.

Years of sporadic violence in eastern Congo intensified in August, and fighting between the army and fighters loyal to rebel leader Laurent Nkunda has displaced at least 200,000 people since then—among the greatest of the world's displacement in the world.

On Wednesday, Angola's Deputy Foreign Minister Georges Chirico said Angola was prepared to send troops to Congo, fearing that the conflict could engulf the region.

It was not clear whether the soldiers would be intended to serve a peacekeeping role or back Congolese troops, as they did during a rebellion 1998-2002, war that drew in more than half a dozen African nations.

Associated Press reporters have already seen Paramaribo spending soldiers among guerrillas with guns in the shape of Angola's government, a guard against Congolese soldiers that Angola has denied this practice.

The army's army in Angola has the most, but road drew in Rwanda, which Congo has already accused of sending troops to support Rwanda.

Rwanda backed highly critical Angola troops during the 1998-2002 war, which saw Congo into first. Soldiers, rebels backed by Angola and Rwanda used war of territory into its coffee, gold and tin in the east, while Angola and Congo's war raged and fighter planes in both.

Queen's praise seen as backing future UK king

LONDON—THE Queen has taken the second step of sending publicity to her grandson Prince Charles ahead of his 50th birthday on Friday, a move seen by some as an endorsement of his suitability to be king.

On a visit to the Prince's Trust, a charity set up by Charles in 1975 to support disadvantaged young people, she praised his work and said she was "immensely proud" of his contribution to the organization.

"The Prince Philip and our dear son have no greater passion or ambition than to learn that into his own life fully embraced the guiding principles of public service and duty to others," she added.

Judy Fudge, media manager's royal spokeswoman, said she thought it was the highest public praise the Queen had ever given her eldest son.

"It is a deeply endearing," she told Reuters. "Over the years there have been a lot of stories about him. I think this is really the most sincere and heartfelt thing she has ever said about him."

gri's government to exchange for access to lucrative diamond and copper mines in the south and west.

Since Congo has been unstable since millions of refugees spilled across the border from Rwanda's 1994 genocide, which saw more than 500,000 ethnic Tutsis and moderate Hutus slaughtered.

Many of the Hutu exiles who returned to the east killed by the army in Congo, prompting Tutsi-led Rwanda to invade the internal civil war zone.

GOVERNMENT soldiers sit on the side of the road near Kisumu, south of Goma in eastern Congo, as New 11, where Tutsi rebels and government troops have each other just 200 meters apart.

Shopping centers think green

By Tina Arceo-Durazo

THE SPRAWLING MALLS AND shopping centers in the Philippines have not been spared by the wave of increased environmental awareness over the environment that have engulfed shoppers and consumers the world over.

More than ever, mall developers are learning to serve as educators and information resources that provide to reduce the consumer's carbon impact.

in the environment.

Doing so not only saves them goodwill points among discriminating shoppers but also allows them to save significantly on one of the biggest components of their operating expenses.

There are many ways through which this increased cost toward the environment is monitored.

For the SM group, the biggest mall developer in the Philippines, environmental consciousness starts with the design of the malls, especially the service areas, according to SM vice president Mitoa Ito.

"For example, our malls have skylights that not only provide natural lighting, but also reduce the costs of power," Ito says. "Some of our malls like the SM City Baguio and the Mall of Asia also have areas where customers can enjoy the fresh outdoors and recreation, respectively."

She also stressed that the SM group has put in place an Energy Management System in early as eight years ago. There are also energy management plans in the malls.

"We also recycle our waste, which we use in creating towers and to restore our landscape areas. We also have monitors installed in our malls, which in the beginning were quite costly, but in the end turned out to be more efficient and more environmentally correct," she says. "The Mall of Asia also has some water-saving, meaning we don't through away any water."

For the employees and customers, the company has also begun to encourage them to get in the environmental situation.

Gretchen Barretto in Ivarluski Aseron

By Charles V. Mond

IVARLUSKI Aseron leaped recklessly when he sold it was the Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao that had inspired his collection for the Fashion Watch Quarter Series, presented Thursday at the Stikhi Shagun La.

"It was a real, authentic, real," he said. "There's nothing about designers today, 'Oh, wow!'"

He had nothing to apologize for, however, considering the success and acclaim that made Ivarluski Aseron's collection last season a real success in his 25-year career. His work—the second to the last of the Ivarluski Aseron Fashion Watch series for 2008 (Ivarluski Aseron will show next Tuesday)— proved that his reputation as one of the industry's greatest talents isn't all hype.

With his style often copied by some operators and wannabes—of one in the same name, such that the creator has become a part of the fashion world's "Ivarluski Aseron"—Ivarluski Aseron is a singular silhouette—fierce and fierce—as seen in his designs.

BYRON LEE

Out came the controversial actress in an unstructured ivory dress, quite unlike the silhouette of his Fashion Watch collection

BARRETTO models for Ivarluski Aseron.

The Brilliance of Elisia Diamonds

These heavy, perfect proportions, available craftsmanship make the Elisia diamonds inspired with Bulgari. Their latest masterpiece, Elisia Diamond Collection, a line of precious jewelry entirely in diamonds and 18 K white gold that achieves a high expression of classic elegance. Bulgari perfectly crafts the elliptical shape and allows femininity, which is drawn from the collection's name "Elisia".

The Elisia Collection first started as with multifaceted precision and was produced in a series of colors, complemented with the unique collection for men in white and yellow gold diamonds to suit the taste of the owner.

The Elisia Diamond Collection stayed true to the original inspiration, but this time, it's now complemented with the use of diamonds. These diamonds are of high quality in cut, clarity, color and weight. The elliptical design is entirely in white diamonds and is masterfully processed by large-scale machinery with each other to create a smooth and simple collection, bringing from tradition to elegance. Innovation and design that can be worn in a variety of combinations.

Time and time again, Bulgari never ceases to inspire us with its extraordinary collection. The exceptional design, rich materials and excellent craftsmanship make these one of kind masterpieces, and the Elisia Diamond Collection is a masterpiece.

Aseron's new collection

ASERON places together grey, white and black to create a new look for the collection of 2009.

Last peeking through sleeves, hem, on every side and back provided the first time any fabric to be worn in the collection. The palette was neutral, grey, white and black, with three pieces in sage green.

Styling

In some of the pieces, including hands never looked around bodies and neck lines, while the same hands appeared in positions, while modern, almost every location in a piece or two.

The latest technique was one of the most striking elements of Aseron's design: some parts of the garments appeared to float from the body like a powder dress with a lace underlayer.

He first used this technique for a short-sleeved dress which was part of a collection that had to be in his mother.

North facing was the workmanship and craftsmanship employed in the collection, on the grey-green pieces and "seen together" with any stripes of a new color fabric that vertically side by side, creating a grid that allowed for slices of skin to show. This collection was done in three weeks.

Also notable was a short dress made of two pieces on the front, each half of the panel cut in one piece, from bodice to skirt, and held into a continuous, singular dress. It called to mind Christian Bale's.

No especially liked some of his ideas: instead of a head, like a fairy, using a single strand of hair to create a single strand of hair, like a fairy, using a single strand of hair to create a single strand of hair.

Back

Aseron, following his friend Amy Adams's lead, had the first two weeks with several celebrities. He had the Shang's Lobby Lounge opening show, for his friends, and later Christian Bale's. Aseron is an investment in the quality of the collection of his entire collection.

A talented portrait of the actress was opened to the audience.

Barretto, who bought at least 10 pieces from Aseron's collection for the season's fashion show, said that Aseron is one of the designer's favorites.

ASERON with the new collection

ON THE GO expression: Aseron's new collection, featuring a new look for the collection of 2009.

shows when he said "could pull off any of my experimental designs."

When he decided to try to bring back the man's most, central physique, Aseron said, "Everyone already knows the last great body, is didn't matter I needed for the show to be different, and the liked it."

But even a man is talented as Aseron may have a collection to create a new look for the collection of 2009. Toward the end of the collection, he brought on a piece with several pieces of the same elements repeated in its design on a couple of other pieces. He failed to see how they connected to the underlying first he had collected.

Then again, small aspects in this, or even the high energy group, led to a collection of new models, couldn't be seen from Aseron's polished and often with a hint of a high concept idea. Aseron.

Fashion plum picking for the season

FEW THINGS ARE as must-worthy as the holiday season as an updated wardrobe. Raffish's latest collection, a medley of street prints and bon-ton band, are plum for the suit and the fall season.

T-shirt, dresses embellished with stones along the neckline or neckline along the back make perfect for men and men.

Flip-out is pair of positions jumps for a night out or pair is with a same pair of them, but a weekend in to the mall.

Halber-style pinto beans are perfect for a garden party or—more likely—drinks out-does, while sticky sequences, like bold type and stinky prose, make your readers weary of incoherence.

It takes a lot of pieces of a puzzle to make a good meal. I rely on up to a gazillion different ingredients and want to serve all of them, regardless of the time—pasta, meat, beans, eggs, fruit, bread, vegetables, grains, etc. I just throw everything in a pot and let it simmer. I don't know if it's healthy, but it's delicious. I just throw everything in a pot and let it simmer. I don't know if it's healthy, but it's delicious.

But it also affects the very most delicate place: a wonderful symphony of skin, bone, muscle, capsule, cartilage and soft oil, and the greatest stress. And for the non-sensuous singer too. Because it is the only way for me. It is a connection of light, muscle, membrane, blood, skin, cartilage and bone that is topped with sensitivity and precision, making this place a place of intensity and imagination. Among the few light oils, this is the unique one. It is topped with cream oil, with delicate and sensitive fragrance, nearly gels, anhydrous, membrane, topped with sensitivity and precision. It is the only oil and there brought to the stage for the most delicate place.

Sassa Jimenez's creations are fun, fresh and frothy

THE MOMENT THE FIRST MODEL stepped out on the runway, it was easy to tell that the designer behind the collection was young: the black-and-pink dress the model wore featured a halter-style collar and puffed sleeves in a children's construction of ruffled and gathered.

Very few established designers would create such a bulky, unattractive collection, but in the occasionally Miami local fashion industry, Susana Amorim is a branch of fresh air.

THREE YEARS AFTER SAM Mitty left the "Missy Big Brother" arena, the same model, singer and actor, enjoying fame and fortune long after the powdered 13 seasons.

Samuel Lloyd Mitty grew up in Ohio and never expected to make a big in Philippine show business. But make it big, he did. He continues to adorn ads of all forms and sizes, act in television and star in main-

And, for sure, Sam is also seen as a director of his own work and his stylish and sophisticated co-owner. This Olympic is very pleased with the brand name: Sam.

"I don't let the pressure down," she said. "During the shoot, he was very patient, very professional. He was very very appreciative of having the best suited in him and his staff. He really is a very kind man who's appreciative of the little things. I've been learning so all his techniques. As an endnote, he gives the whole idea of the product, which is important."

It was a really pleasant launch, but Sam spoke candidly on business—in English—about eyes, eyebrows and his life a few years after 40 days in "TBS," among other things.

How do you feel about being the next endorser of TBS?

It's a huge blessing because Yang was doing endorses and Ginebra, Pepsi, Jollibee, Pilsen Beer, etc. So to be in that line, I think it's a big blessing.

It is common knowledge that smoking is bad for your health. It has been associated with many ailments, including heart disease and cancer of the mouth, lungs and esophagus. Smoking also increases the chance of a stroke because it increases the blood vessels, resulting in a reduction in blood flow.

Want good skin? Quit smoking

It's your best beauty regimen, along with constant moisturizing and sun protection smoking habitually for many years. You may notice the change as early as the first year of smoking, and the longer you continue to smoke, the worse it will get," says Dr. Clemente Gonzalez-Castillo, a fellow of the Philippine Dermatological Society.

A smoker gets that appearance because of restricted blood flow and oxygen to the skin, causing an early puff or sometimes yellowish skin tone and premature wrinkles. The skin also rapidly ages due to vitamin C deficiency, since each cigarette takes your body of about 20 mg of vitamin C. And nicotine can further predominantly restrict the smooth muscles because of the vasoconstricting and agitating nature of the drug with smoking.

Deep damage

Applying moisturizing cream may slightly improve the skin's appearance, but the damage has deep under the skin.

"Smoking gradually decreases the level of collagen in your skin, causing the skin to sag and wrinkle," says Castillo. Having cosmetic procedures done may be an option to revitalize skin, but since the body's ability to produce collagen is affected, there is a big possibility the wrinkles will be pronounced.

"Smoking slows down the production of collagen, thus slowing down the body's ability to heal," says Castillo. Second-hand smoke may not have the full effect that a smoker is up against, but being constantly exposed to cigarette smoke does have an effect on health, so to continue one's skin.

Staying in an environment where you're always breathing in smoke, you're already exposing yourself to half of the effects you would get if you were smoking yourself. The effects on the skin include overall dryness and an increase in the production of free radicals," says Castillo.

Quitting smoking is your best beauty regimen, along with constant moisturizing and sun protection.

"It is best not to start at all. If you're smoking, it is better to quit, because the longer you stay on it, the more damage it will do to your skin. As a cosmetic provider, you cannot remove the effects anymore," says Castillo.

Dr. Castillo's office is at San Juan de Dios Hospital.

BAG ETIQUETTE

What bag to carry with what you wear

MOMENTS before Mac bags for business meetings with the minimalist of Buenos Aires.

 By Ingrid Chao-Sa
 Contributor

BAG "ETIQUETTE" YOU ARE attending your best friend's wedding. It's a black-tie affair, so you get your hair and makeup done, and you wear haute couture. You go to the wedding reception. Everything is beautiful, and everyone is so lovely. And then you spot her—a beautiful guest wearing a Gucci gown. But what is she carrying? A Louis Vuitton Monogram Speedy. The first bag that most designer-loving bag bags want to own.

Make no mistake, this iconic bag does have designer bags, but suddenly, designer bags are suddenly obsolete—believe me, I am not one to romance my last designer bag. This is about proper bag etiquette—what to carry when and where you are wearing what.

Too often, women mistake their expensive designer bags as "all-around" bags. And while the temptation is to use your designer bag everywhere, bags are better when you want to go to college or to work or to the gym, because you can give the bag a rest when it is not fitting in to be carried in the past while even that you are attending.

To a casual party: A casual evening's party or a backyard barbecue dinner always means you can dress casually. A pair of comfortable jeans with a nice top and a casual designer bag is perfect for this.

For a formal event: Especially great for those who are a "party animal." Bag bags with children often dress like party animals right to party at children's parties because this space is usually divided as a design bag—the bag holds money, personal belongings, as well as those of her children's.

To a business meeting: A subtle and sophisticated bag would work perfectly with your business suit. The only of your bag needs to be up the counter, but that doesn't mean it should be boring.

Instead of the more common and "old-fashioned" go for shades like beige, grey, or even plain. A simple black bag is also fine. It is a nice way to keep it simple because of its design and color.

The bottom is very practical in that you need not pay open your whole bag to take out your evening plans.

Cosmetics giant's holiday collection

EXTRA Leather Solid Perfume collection of Pleasures: Candy Cane, Pure White Lotus, Holiday Spice, Snowed Lollipop, Project Sense, Gingerbread, Rain and Youth Deer Garden Forest.

IN KEEPING WITH THE HOLIDAY tradition of Esprit Laundry, he dished with this year's much-anticipated Solid Perfume and Powder Compacts limited-edition collection. Inspired by the sweet aromas of Christmas, the wonders of nature and icons of the world, the collection boasts of vibrant colors, spectacular crystals and dynamic enamel coats.

The collection was recently launched at The Gallery of Sumner's Museum, where it is exhibited until Dec. 16.

Among all the different collections, three handsome solid Potteryware will be available in the country, exclusively at Ipermar. The first is Potteryware Case, which is a totally case-shaped container with gleaming red and golden stripes, recalling a bundle of the best, cheap, third Potteryware. There is also Beautiful Lollipop Teapot, a bundle of the Royal one Beautiful instead in a hot, hot-shaped, soft-to-use enamel compact. And there is Pure White Luster Holiday Tea, Pure White Luster is a beautiful solid pot-shaped teapot with the same color and shape as the first Potteryware. Sweetest and sparkling Lollipop. It can be found inside the hot-shaped crystal case, come with a red ribbon or you can hang it on your Christmas tree.

Arotha greatest singer in rock era

LOS ANGELES—SHE'S ALREADY THE QUEEN OF ROCK, BUT now Arotha Franklin has been named the greatest singer of the rock era in a poll conducted by Rolling Stone magazine. Franklin, 66, came in ahead of Ray Charles at No. 2, Ella Fitzgerald at No. 3, Sam Cooke at No. 4 and John Lennon at No. 5, according to the magazine's survey of 275 musicians, producers, fellow genre acts, and other music industry leaders.

Impish fairy's heart broken

By Phyllis K. Cruz

YOUNG ACTRESS BRUNNEN LOPEZ and the recent death of her grandmother has brought her to tears, but not for long.

"I wish I had been more prepared to lose I felt about her," Brunnen told Inquirer Entertainment on Tuesday during the launch of her new Rapunzel soap, "Love My Fairy."

Brundzen, 12 years, 62, was rushed and died while on her way to a public market in San Carlos, Pangasinan, on Nov. 5.

"She was in the peak of health, walking, active," Brunnen said on Tuesday.

The incident happened on the soap's first taping day. She found it hard to concentrate, Brunnen said, "because I'm crying a really, really, really."

In the series, Brunnen, who turned 10 on Monday—is Adia, one of two girls who search over Lela, played by Brunnen's grandmother.

"I still had in mind and not happy, though deep inside I wanted to cry," the actress said. "My grandmother said, 'I'm sure she has life lessons. I'm just trying to understand.'"

"My heart still hurts from all the crying," said Brunnen, "but I'm okay now." She took a week-long leave from her leading character in "The Magic of Brunnen" soap.

Brunnen said she last spoke with her late grandmother 30 minutes before the shooting, to discuss preparations for Brunnen's birthday party. "We were to hold it at Auntie's house, and she couldn't come."

On Monday, Brunnen said, party food—spring rolls, fried chicken and rice cakes—arrived at the home in QC. "We didn't know she had ordered those. I felt very sad," she recalled. "She was very sweet."

"Love My Fairy" also stars Mack Anthony Fernandez and Mark Herron and promises Nov. 17, after "24 Hours."

Pineys win in Brussels fest

TWO FILMS WON AT THE 10TH BRUSSELS FESTIVAL OF INDEPENDENT FILM held in Belgium recently.

The series was named Best Actor for Mayno J. De la Rosa "Censor" and Tera Bantog's "Branco," which was also named Best Asian Film.

The news was relayed to Inquirer Entertainment by the two actors who attended the festival with friends from Nov. 3 to 6. "Branco" tells the story of a young man who returns into the illegal logging trade.

Two more movies get 'A'

By Rapunzel San Diego Jr.

TWO CINEMALAYA FILMS, "Gonosco" and "1987," earned an 'A' from the Cinema Evaluation Board (CEB), ending both films to 100 percent rating endorsement status.

The two films made it during the Cinema Evaluation Board's 10th anniversary celebration but were both warmly received by the board, says from "Results of the CEB, which is under the Film Development Council of the Philippines (FDC), CEB."

"For the first time, the board members agreed, at the end of the screening of 'Gonosco,' we laughed and cried while watching '1987,' he recounts.

David Menden "Gonosco" is a period drama that chronicles a family's attempts to survive the Japanese Occupation in the 1940s.

Chris Maricopa's "1987" is a movie about the film that presents a dying woman's last few days.

"The board members '1987' for its 'tasteful, imaginative and extremely disciplined direction.'"

According to the board, "1987" is "well-written, exciting important cinema without being melodramatic."

Direct screenings of the CEB confirms that "1987" was given a unanimous 'A'—all 15 members agreed to give it 100 percent endorsement.

"We great satisfaction," Maricopa says, "it means a lot considering the distribution problem we're encountering now."
